DETAILED ACTIONInventorship

1. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claims 1, 3, 5, 8, 10-13, 15, 18-31, 33, 35-45, 47 and 48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yaremko et al. (5,620,898) in view of Burshteyn et al. (6,992,702). This rejection was applied in Paragraph 5 of the previous Office Action (mailed 10/05/06). It remains in effect. Please see Response to Arguments below.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 1/05/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant has argued the following in traversing the rejection under Yaremko and Burshteyn: (1) Yaremko does not teach a vessel having a bottom with an irregular surface (page 11, lines 3-8); (2) Yaremko teaches a different filter material than the instant claims (page 11, lines 9-12); and (3) Neither reference teaches using a flow or capillary cytometer to detect agglutination (page 1, lines 26-31). The Examiner respectfully disagrees on all counts.

(1) Yaremko vessel bottom

Applicant has noted that Yaremko teaches a column filled with beads and argued that the beads do not comprise the bottom of a vessel but instead a microcolumn. The Examiner directs Applicant to Figures 5-7 and column 6, lines 9-32 of Yaremko which discloses that the microcolumns ARE containers that have the beads dispensed into the bottom. The Examiner considers a container bottom having beads deposited onto its surface to be "uneven". As for new claim 47, the fluid would spread along the filtration elements by surface tension, adsorption, or capillary action upon contacting the filter element.

(2) Different filter material

The Examiner concedes that Yaremko uses glass beads or gel as the filtration material. This was noted in Paragraph 5 of the previous Office Action. These materials are disclosed in Burshteyn, however. Applicant has argued that Burshteyn does not teach a filter in the bottom of a vessel, but the Examiner is not relying upon Burshteyn for this teaching. Applicant has also argued that the filter material of the instant application differs in material than that of the prior art, but the Examiner fails to see how the material from Burshteyn is different from that of Burshteyn given that it may be comprised of the same compounds.

(3) Examination of Agglutination Products

The Examiner directs Applicant to the following portions of Yaremko which disclose the formation of agglutination reaction products for examination: Column 14, line 61 – column 15, line 3; column 15, lines 42-46; and column 16, lines 33-42. The Examiner believes this is a clear teaching of examining agglutination products. The flow cytometer teaching was provided from the Burshteyn reference for providing continuous sample analysis through the flow channel. The samples are agglutination products as taught in Yaremko.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
